SCOTTISH LETTER.

From Car Can Corresponding EDINBURGH, January 1 A GREAT COLLECTION OF GARLIC

MANUSURITIS. The famous Maclagan collection of Gastic manuscripts has been presented to the library of Glasgow, University, Thoy embrace specimens of Gaelie poetry, mostly of the eighteenth contury. The collector James Moclagan (1728-1805), was acquainted with all the Gaelic scholars of his day; he gave some ballads to James Macpherson ; and in his MSS, are copies of the chief "Ossisnic Lays" current in and previous to the eighteenth century. The gift includes the poems of John MacCodrum, the Uist post, and Dugald Buchanan, the Porthabiro bard. There are also a large number of elegies, love songs, convivual songs, saga ballada, folk songs, and indeed overy species of oral literature in verse. James. Maclagau was born at Ballochin in the parish of Logicrait, where his father was a small farmer. He studied for the ministry, and in 1764 was appointed chaplain to the Black Watch then under the command of Lord John Murray, holding that commission for twenty-four years, and seeing much service with the regiment in the American War of

SPIE OF DUNECHE

Independence.

The estate of Dunscht; Aberdeenshire. has been purchased by Sir Weetman Dickinson Pearson, who has lease i it for the past fow years. The property, which extends to about 9000 acres. was acquired in 1845 by the 24th Earl of Crawford and Balcarres. who is said to have paid £200,000 for it; while his son, the 25th Earl, subsequently expended over £140,000 on the man the chapel there was stolen, in the summer of 1881, the body of the 25th Earl of Crawford, who died at Florence in the previous December. Not until the following July was the body recovered in the grounds near the place whence it had been removed, through the instrumentality of a poscher, who had encountered the bodysnatchers on the night of the depredation and by them been sworn to secrecy. The outrage not unnaturally led the family to take a dislike to the mansion, and they quitted it, the property being purchased in 1899 by the late Mr Alexander Charles Pirie of Crailstone.

" BAL BLEU" AND A " COUNTRY GIRLS"

The strain of the political situation was relieved by two pleasant Society assemblies in Edinburgh. They were organised on behalf of Stirling Royal Infirmary, and had over seventy patronesses, all members of the principal Section County and Etinburgh families. The first assembly was a "Bal Bleu," and its leading and opening feature was " Ye Dance of Bridge," which, as they say in the play-bills, was invented and arranged " for the occasion. The present favourite card game was represented in the following fashion Ye Players of ye Great Game," four in number, came into the ball-room, and took their places at a card-table placed in the centre of the floor. They were the dealer, the leader, the partner of the leader, and the dummy. The cards were put round, the dummy hand laid out, and after the usual preliminaries, "no trumps" was fixed on, and the game began. As each card fell, it was called out; and immediately at the door appeared, under the limelight, the living representative of the card, attired in appropriate costume. Each of the fifty-two living cards, to the atrains of one of Straues's waltzes, advanced in turn to the tables. When the hand was played, the lights, which had been lowered. 153 were turned up, showing the whole pack in their handsome and bizarrs attire in the centre of the room. The participators in the game then danced a quadrille in imita.

The second assembly was one of the now annual "Country Girl" balls, and its feature was a specially arranged set of reels. There were five sets. Lady Marjory Mackenzie and Lady Kinross's reels had their young ladies in palest blue sequin frocks all made exactly slike. In Lady DASSES for Servants will be issued Belbaven and Lady Ruthven's reels, the on application to the Undersigned dresses were of a darker shade of blue. sapphire blue sequin, which made a fine contrast to the scarlet coats of the officers, this reel being wholly a military one.

Business Property Fear Book 1910. Edited by descrip Davies and C. P. HALLET ; 12, James Street, Cardiff. [Hongkong, Blessra Kelly and Walsh.]

This should prove a most useful help to all engaged in the coal, iron, copper, tin, hipping, pottom, wheat, and other trades and desices in boy and dairy produce. tinulates, home and American rays, and these fulgreated in the money market. All these subjects are treated in most comprehensive ranking and the figures given are theroughly up-to-date. The editors in their preface strike note of high prophecy. They say !-The calls for iron and atest, for copper and other metals, for all classes of textiless and for the thousand and one divisions of modern industry, are all advancing in the right direction. The deep depression which formed the reaction, on the boom of 1906 and 1907 can now be said to have disappeared and normal trade conditions are in operation in each of the gree manufacturing nations. But whilst rim provement in demand is in evidence it is still well, within the world's capacity of supply, and a considerable further expansion has to be shown in consumption before anything in the nature of an ther boom can be hoped for. 1910 promises to be a year to which work will be more regular than is either of the two preceding years. the $3rd Fabruary, 1910, at 3 p.m., at the in which reasonable profits will accrue to capital, and in which the upward progress will sheddly continue."

LORDIROSEBERY'S SUGGESTION.

ROYAL Commissions are a special and poculiar invention of the British Isles. When a public question has grown so large and 'prickly as to be 'awkward to handle, especially by the party which first started it on its career, then a Royal Commission is appointed to examine into t and very speedily the thing is smothered beneath the weight of a voluminous report which none but the compilers read through from beginning to end and the public, ever enger to be diverted by the latest new thing, turns its attention suit has followed the long, learned and expensive enquiries instituted and carried on for many years by the Law ommission ? .. It was the hope of its ounders that the outcome of this Comof the cumbrous, contradictory and fearully involved laws of England, and a simplification of legal procedure generalstill orn. Then, we have had Poor Law Commissions, Afforestation Commissions, Welsh Church Commissions Weights and Measures Commissions

Waterways Commissions, and what not,

and in every case they have been like a phiaso, suggesting that the subject of Tariff Reform be examined into by was delivered in London on the 17th Royal Commission. An accellent suggestion truly if his Lordship's in-British fiscal problem to the Greek

of the silver longue and pursuative

Despite the high hopes of A CHAMBERLAIN and his immediate followers the electorate of the British Isles in the late general election did not take kindly to the Tariff Reformers proposals, and the result of the recent appeal the country cannot be said, even by the most saugnine, to have been in th slightest sense favourable to the men who would sweep away the system identified for all time with the name of RICHARD CUBDEN. Mr CHAMBERLAIN explained this phenomenon by stoutly leclaring that the electorate were disgusted by the attitude assumed by the "wobblers," those men who were afraid to make up their minds one way or the other lest unhappily they should disapproval of the Bishop of the Diocese. jeopardize their precious chances of being returned to parliament. BALFOUR'S attitude also was far from sing a meeting at Grimsby on 15th January. satisfactory. Only lukewarm can his adherence to the Chamberlain proposule slaborate series of mancurres, which be described. So it was no wonder that the country hesitated.

Yet he would be a bold man who would declare that the present fiscal system of Great Britain is so perfect that it needs no modification: COBDEN has uttered the last word on fiscal problems. Had all the world definite instructions had been given to followed the example of England and every residing officer in Norwich and become Free Traders, as Compan and the Manchester school of thinkers graphers, the would-be woman voter, much confidently expected, there is no doubt that it would have been better for everybody. But as it is, with every other nation as it gradually comes to its night's imprisonment at Liverpool in constrength building up high fences. protection, we have stripped ourselves of all fiscal defences and now that our competitors have caught up with us the industrial and commercial fields we are gradually being forced from our 5.30 p.m. - Meeting for Men. City Hall, former position into one which will eventually spell disaster for every industry in the United Kingdom. Free meaning of the elections, which are inter-Traders deny this strenuously, but they preted as proving snything for either side. forget the condition of affairs in Europe sixty years ago and what a splendid and decisive victory and denounces the and unique position Great Britain had Unionists for preventing the acknowledggiven her then by Providence above all the nations on earth. But things have Budget majority in England, which has changed vastly. In the place of feeble and, much cut-up Germany with igninst the Budget will easily wipe out the only the rudimentary beginnings of an industrial system we have now the claimed in the same manner. wonderfully complete and scientifically trained German empire, while across the Atlantic his sprung up a nation to whose potentialities no man can yet place a limit. Both are relentless rivals of the island kingdom whose fetich still is Cobdenism. As the Liberal party have resolved to stick by the backs paraded the main thoroughfares in precepts of the Manchester school the Unionist party hesitates to go the whole hog" for fiscal reform, Lord Rosenery has, in his wisdom, stepped into the arena with a suggestion for smothering an awkward issue. But we last General Election he retined the seat sincerely hope that the matter will not go further than suggestion for the question is lar too vital and Everybody prodicts a very lively Parliamentary period, for the Labour men- and Nationalists will be ever on the pounce if the Liberals deviate from their advancod pledges. It is now or never for Home Rule. Very likely there will be another general election after the Lords, the Budget, one or two social reforms and a re-distribution of scats measure have been carried through. For the path promises to be too thorny for dallying by the way and Asquith would like to have a more independent hand. Some of the defented men, like Will Crooks, the Labourleaderfor Woolwich, Wal-

RUBBER CULTURE IN THE PAR BART

DE WILLIE'S VIEW AND PORECUST. Under this beading Dr J. C. Willia has two-page article in the India Rusber World (New York) Dr Willia's contribution mainly historical. We reproduce the con-

oluding paragraphs :-At the time of this writing, it is probable that about 400,000 acres in tropical Asia are planted with Herea Brusiliensia. This means, in the course of the next seven or eight years, a production of about 40,000 to 50,000 tons of clean rubber, or good deal more than half of the world's present total production. Add to this the fact that during the present boom rubber that tropical America and Africa have and rejoin at Koba. a fair amount of rubber planted, that it is improbable that the wild rubber of South America will be driven the market for a long time to come, and that there are also considerable areas | Newchwang. planted in other kinds of rubber, and it is evident that it will not be very many years before rubber is chesp and new uses for it may begin to arise freely.

A word of mention in conclusion in 755 regard to other rubbers, Oastillos clastics. so largely planted in Mexico, has been given up in tropical Asia on account of its uncertainty. It is by no means easy to persuade the tree to grow well all the time. It may begin well and then fall off, or viec versa. The amount of subber given by tapping is very variable, and there is no wound response.

Manihot Glazierii, the Coars rubber, grows like a wood all over the East, but has never given a large enough yield to beat Noon. much taken up. In quality this rubber, SHARGHAI when made into biscuit or sheet is decidedly superior to the best plantation Herea. DR. WILLI MS' PINE PILLS. THE ONE OF SKIN DISEASE," THE OTHER or Rurum crism.

TT is just as uscless to try, and cure Eczems and Skin Disorders by the use of Ointment and Salves as it is to try to cure Rheumatism by the use Embrocations. The rubbing in of these things may ease the pain and discomfort for a time, but as both Skin troubles and Rheumatism are disorders due to an impure condition of the blood; obviously, the only permanent way to cure either is through, the blood. By their unique purifying and, at the same time, strengthening action on the blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured thousands of cases of Eczema and other forms of Skin di-ease during the past twenty years; likewise, because they drive the poisonous said which causes Rheumatism out of the blood, they samed a world-wide reputation as being the greatost remedy known for this agonising maladyin fact they have cured more cases of Rheumatism, even in its worst forms, than of any other malady excepting, perhaps, amemin "It was in the year 1907 that eruptions broke out on various parts of my
